Ofsted Inspection

We are delighted to share that Ofsted carried out an inspection at Lammack this week. We are extremely proud of every pupil — their impeccable behaviour, politeness and respect shone throughout the visit. Inspectors were particularly impressed by the children's confidence, advanced oracy and language development and their ability to explain what they have learned during their time at Lammack. They praised the quality of our curriculum, teaching and learning, our inclusive practice, strong leadership and governance, and the support of our wonderful parents. Thank you to everyone who completed the parent survey and sent messages of support during the two days — your encouragement made a real difference. We look forward to sharing the final report with you when it is published in approximately five weeks' time

Baby News

We are delighted to share the wonderful news that Miss Mason and Mr Ainscough are expecting their first baby later this academic year. This is such a special time for them as they prepare to welcome a new member into their family — a time of excitement, anticipation and many treasured firsts. As colleagues and as a whole Lammack family we know this journey will bring immense joy, new routines, and opportunities for celebration; we look forward to supporting them with warm wishes, practical help where needed, and sharing in the happy moments ahead. Please join us in congratulating them and wishing them every happiness as they prepare for their new arrival.

Parking

We have received a very serious complaint from a local resident after a parent parked directly across their driveway this week, preventing them from leaving their home. This behaviour is totally unacceptable. Please remember that our relationship with the local community is important to everyone at Lammack and that simple, respectful actions at arrival and pick-up times make a big difference.

Do please:

- Never park across a resident's driveway, on dropped kerbs, or in a way that blocks access for other road users.
- Avoid double-parking or stopping in the middle of the road to let children out.
- Keep clear of yellow lines, zig-zags and school entrance areas; these are there for pupil safety and emergency access.
- Consider walking, parking at QEGs car park or car-sharing where possible to reduce congestion.

Repeated or deliberate obstruction can cause real distress to residents, may put children at risk and could result in enforcement action by the local authority.

We ask every parent and carer to model our school values of respect and teamwork at all times. Thank you for helping us maintain positive relationships with our neighbours and keeping our pupils safe.
