

The Amesbury Archer – to the tune of The Charming Man by The Smiths

Bronze Age Grave
On a hillside desolate
Will people know your secrets yet?
When in this burial site
This ancient man
He travelled far to this land,
Beaker people
Bringing skills
I would go out tonight
But I've only wrist guards to wear
This man had such treasures
Archaeologists could only stare
Ah, a very skilled maker
With flint arrowheads
and cop...per knives around
We know so little about these times
We know so little about these times
I would go out tonight
But I've only wrist guards to wear
This man had such treasures
Archaeologists could only stare
Na, na-na, na-na, na-na, this ancient man
Oh, na-na, na-na, na-na, this ancient man
Ah, a very skilled maker
With flint arrowheads
and cop...per knives around
We know so little about these times
We know so little about these times
We know so little about these times
