World Book Day

Science

Hello and welcome to our weekly newsletter. It has been a fun and productive week that has seen me head into our Year 5 & 6 classes to see some amazing writing lessons. I was particularly impressed with the persuasive language, techniques and features that the children were using as they encouraged the reader to holiday in Mexico. It is also clear from their written books that these high-standards are being met each and every day with some excellent writing happening across the year groups. Next week I look forward to visiting the Year 3 & 4 classes to see their writing lessons as well.

We've enjoyed reading and had some fantastic World Book Day Celebrations this week. The children did an amazing job with their costumes (staff didn't do too bad either!) and I'm sure they enjoyed time reading with children in other classes as well as enjoying their gifted world book day books and vouchers.

This week we have welcomed some springtime sunshine which is a timely reminder that Easter is on its way. Next Friday we will host the first of 3 consecutive non-uniform days to raise stock to sell at our upcoming Easter Fayre held on Friday 4th April (details on the attached flyer and Class Dojo).

The week ended with our traditional celebration assembly, and it was great to recognise individuals with certificates and prizes for their amazing efforts in class and kindness shown outside of the class.

Well done all, and wishing everyone a restful weekend

Mr Beattie
