Year 5 Summer Fair

Last Friday, Year 5 held a magnificent summer fair based on the World Cup. There were many fun and exciting games and stalls such as: Roll a Goal, Terrific T-shirt Throw and the main event - the Chocolate Tombola!

There was also face painting which included footballs, kits and team flags. There were many opportunities to grab a nice glass of orange or blackcurrant juice and an ice pop on the side. As well as face paints, there were also temporary tattoos which were cool designs of football players, their awesome kit and different team logos.

Year 5 raised £1134.70 during the school fair which all goes to the school fund and everyone really enjoyed it.

Year 4 Trip to Crowden Brook

Year 4 had a fantastic time on their Geography trip to Crowden Brook yesterday. During the visit, the children took measurements of the river, practised using OS maps and investigated the living things that can be found in and around the water. It was wonderful to see them applying their Geography skills and knowledge in a real-world setting.

4OL Class Assembly

4OL proudly presented their class assembly based on their Geography topic, Rivers. The children have worked incredibly hard learning about the journey of a river, its key features, and the important role rivers play in our environment.

The class thoroughly enjoyed getting in role and bringing their learning to life through acting, speaking, and performing. They confidently shared their knowledge with the audience and demonstrated all the hard work they have put into their studies.

We are very proud of the enthusiasm, teamwork, and confidence shown by everyone in 4OL. Well done, 4OL!

SMART SEARCHING – USING CHILD-SAFE SEARCH ENGINES

ISSUE 26

SMART SEARCHING

Search engines like Google are a valuable part of everyday life, helping children learn, explore, and find information. However, with AI now integrated into many search tools, it is more important than ever to think critically about the information we find online.

It's also important to remember that AI-generated answers are not always accurate and can sometimes provide incorrect information. Encouraging children to question what they find can help them become safer and more confident online users.

CHILD-SAFE SEARCH ENGINES

Search engines comb through the entire internet when performing a search, and it does not filter content unless requested. When children are using search engines, they may find content that is not appropriate. As a result, some companies have created child-safe/friendly search engines.

These engines, such as Kiddle, tailor their results to always be suitable for children. These search engines not only remove explicit or inappropriate content, but also only show content that children can read or access, such as removing Wikipedia as the top results and replacing it with articles with easier-to-understand language.

KIDDLE

This week's spotlight is Kiddle.

As mentioned, Kiddle is a child-friendly search engine. It is designed specifically for primary-aged children, with search results tailored to their age and understanding.

The content shown is designed to be accessible and appropriate for children, as inappropriate content is filtered out by the search engine.
