| One way of sculpting a pot with clay is coiling.Coiling is when long “sausages” of clay are built upon one another and then smoothed down to sculpt a potOne way of making a sculpture with clay is by coiling a shape and then adding clay to itTo join clay pieces and change the shape scoring and slip is used. This is making one surface rough and using slip to add the next piece.Slip is very wet/watery clayIt is best to add designs to clay when it is “leather hard” (almost dry)Incising is a way of decorating and drawing on clay by scratching/carving a pattern with a sharp material or pressing an object downRelief is another way of adding pattern and texture.Relief is making a 3D pattern by adding clay to a surfaceDrawing a sculpture first in 2D is a helpful way to plan your ideas and shape.To roll an even base we can use two guides |  | Sculpture - In art a shape with 3 dimensions is called form and materials such as clay is moulded to make an artform. In sculpture materials and pieces are often joined together. |  | Shape : In art a shape with 3 dimensions is called form.Drawing is a way of making a picture or design. Drawings are created by making lines on a surface. Long lines make up the shapes and small lines make the textures.                                                                                                                               |  |                          |  |
