

This week, Class 3 has enjoyed another busy and successful week of learning across the curriculum.

In English, we have begun our new non-fiction unit. The children explored a variety of text types, including reports, explanations, instructions, discussions, recounts and persuasive texts. They worked collaboratively to identify the features of each genre and sorted examples into their correct categories. It has been wonderful to see the children beginning to think like writers and recognise how different texts are organised for different purposes.

In maths, Year 5 pupils have been focusing on multiples, identifying common multiples and applying their knowledge to solve a range of reasoning challenges. Year 6 pupils have been developing their confidence with long division, learning how to use formal written methods and applying these skills to increasingly complex calculations. Both year groups have shown excellent determination and resilience when tackling challenging problems.

In RE, we have been learning about life journeys. The children reflected on the important milestones people experience throughout their lives and considered how different faiths mark these special occasions. Thoughtful discussions helped pupils recognise both the similarities and differences between religious traditions.

We also enjoyed a fantastic PE lesson focused on hockey. The children demonstrated excellent teamwork, control and sportsmanship while practising dribbling, passing and shooting skills. It was great to see everyone participating enthusiastically and encouraging one another throughout the session.

In history, we continued our study of the Anglo-Saxons by learning about the Anglo-Saxon Heptarchy. The children discovered how England was divided into seven kingdoms and explored how these kingdoms were ruled before eventually becoming united. They asked some excellent questions and showed great curiosity about this fascinating period of British history.

Well done to all of Class 3 for another week of hard work, enthusiasm and excellent behaviour. Have a wonderful weekend!
