This week class 2 have worked hard to write their own version of a Family Ness Story for younger children to enjoy. I have been blown away by how much handwriting has improved already. Everyone has worked hard to improve this in regular handwriting lessons and it is now paying off – well done everyone!

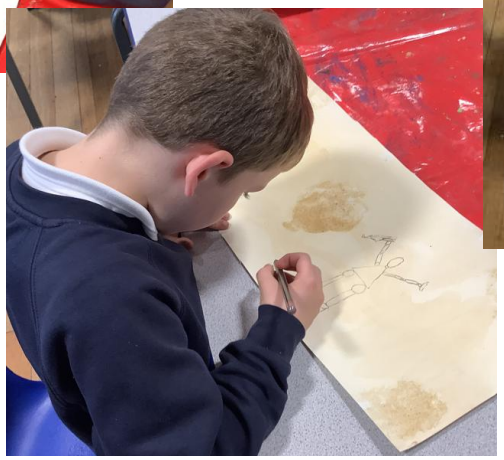

In maths, we have continued with our addition and subtraction work. Y3 have tried out some different methods to find out which one works well for their maths brain. Y4 have been revising how to use the formal method of column subtraction where exchanges are involved.

We had a great time in Art this week! Some brilliant Stone Age inspired cave paintings were created using charcoal pencils, teabags and a range of spices that we found worked well when experimenting with natural colour palettes. Children used shapes, colour and lines to depict their scene – we had themes of hunters, the discovery of fire and living as a community. The children were very proud of their creations!

To end the week, we had great fun down at Sharneyford park for our Forest School session with Mrs Greenwood, where we took our cave painting outside! We used mallets to crush chalk and then mixed our powders with water to make paint. We then used our paint to create cave painting on the stone fences! All finished off with a warm drink and a biscuit – what fun!

Everyone who attended the disco had a great time and their costumes were great! Now it's time for everyone to rest up and enjoy half term so that we return refreshed and ready to go again for another exciting, busy half term!
