

We're going to explore the Habitats

A Sensory Story by Nichola Mott

The trees are tall...
The leaves are rustling...
We have to go through the forest.

"Rustle... rustle... crunch... crunch..."

Explore leaves + pine scent

The air is icy...
The snow is crunchy...
We have to go across the Arctic.

"Brrrr... crunch... whoooosh...Brrrr... crunch... whoooosh..."

Explore foil blankets and cool packs

The sun is glowing...
The sand is shifting...
We have to go over the desert

"Shhh... shhh... warm... warm..."

Explore sand trays

The waves are rolling...
The water is splashing...
We have to go through the ocean

splash... swoosh... bubble... bubble... splash... swoosh... bubble... bubble..."

Explore Blue fabric and water spray

The flowers are blooming...
The insects are humming...
We have to go across the meadow.

"Buzz... buzz... brush... brush... buzz... buzz... brush... brush..."

Listen to sound of insects buzzing

“What’s this place?
It’s glowing...
It’s shimmering...
It’s a secret habitat full of treasures!”

“Wow!”

Explore sensory toys

“Wow, it transported us home!
We made it back!
We explored so many habitats today.
What an amazing adventure.”
