

What happens in a loving relationship (incl. marriage) and what is forced marriage?

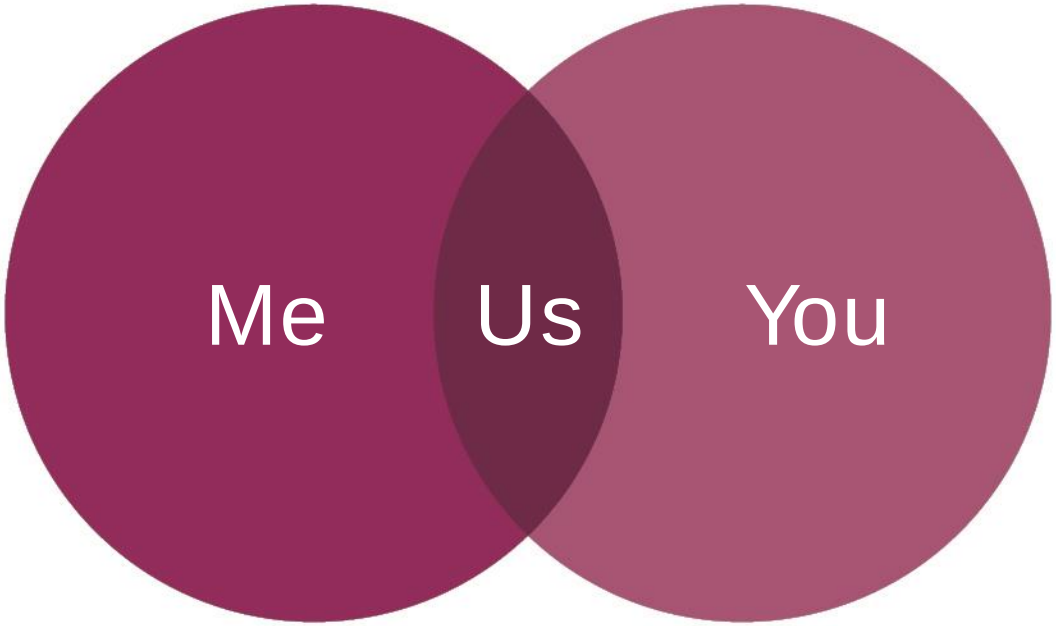

Ground Rules

Respect

Listening

Confidentiality

What happens in a loving relationship (incl. marriage) and what is forced marriage?

- Identify the positive qualities and expectations for different relationships.
- Describe different types of relationship, including marriage
- Explain the similarities and differences between friendships and intimate relationships
- Define forced marriage.

Pairs

What different types of relationships do people have?

This could include family, neighbours and lots more.

Think about all of the relationships you have with other people.
Friends, parents, relatives, siblings, teachers…

What makes them different/similar?
What are the characteristics of a positive relationship?

Colour the positive characteristics of a relationship

Commitment	Affection	Friendship	Respect	Fairness
Honesty	Unkind	Shared interests	Caring	Considerate
Disloyal	Funny	Patient	Kindness	Helpful
Dependence	Compromise	Attractive	Sharing	Thoughtful
Acceptance	Loyalty	Sense of Humour	Disrespect	Communication

Copy & complete the mind-map

Explain the similarities and differences between friendships and intimate relationships

Friendship	Intimate Relationship

List the characteristics for both friendship and intimate relationship to explore any similarities and differences.

True or false

A civil partnership is a legally recognised relationship between two people.

True or false

Two people who love and care for one another can be in a committed relationship and not be married or in a civil partnership

True or false

Civil partnerships and marriage happen when two people, who love and care for each other, want to freely make a commitment to each other

True or false

Forcing anyone to marry is a crime

You can talk to…

Trusted adult

Saheli.org.uk

School nurse

Teacher

karmanirvana.org.uk

ChildLine 0800 1111