Message from Mrs. Holland

I think Spring has finally arrived! I have seen children playing out without jumpers this week - let's hope it lasts. What a wonderful day it was yesterday celebrating World Book Day. Everyone looked fabulous whether they were in costume or not and we all had a lovely time enjoying and sharing stories. This year things were a little different as children decorated a potato as their favourite book character. I'm not sure I'll look at a baked potato in the same way again! We had our final session at Florence Grogan this week with our little superstars from Year 2 and 3. It has been such an uplifting experience and both children and residents have thoroughly enjoyed the experience. I look forward to doing it again in the summer term. Have a lovely weekend. Mrs Holland
