The Assembly Lady

A lovely story from the inspection was a child in Y1, who was asked who keeps you safe, his mind went blank in the moment (because it does) quickly said, "The Assembly Lady!" So today in Head teacher's assembly I was presented with a specially printed t-shirt, with Assembly Lady on the front, which I will treasure forever.

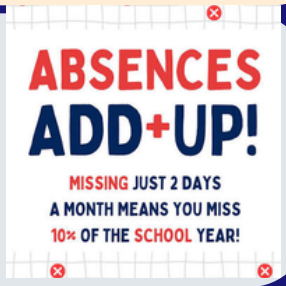

We have certainly started the year with a bang! All year groups have hosted a Macmillan Coffee afternoon, visited the library and taken part in competitions. We have had trips to Liverpool museum and London, as well as visiting West head Clough. A fabulous science week was held where children accessed magical experiments by Wacky Jacky and visited the inflatable planetarium and we have only been at school for 8 weeks! And if that was not enough in a week where the weather has been horrendous, a full moon was approaching, we had the call from Ofsted. However, as usual, our school community did not let us down (children, parents, governors and staff) during the inspection. The whole community did Woodland proud, so thank you to each and every one of you for your continued support.
