

Sticky Facts

The synagogue is the Jewish place of worship.

Jews believe the Torah is God's way of communicating with them.

The Ark is a cabinet which holds the Torah - it is the most important thing inside a synagogue.

A Rabbi is the official religious leader of Jews.

Pesach celebrates the freedom of Jews from slavery in Ancient Egypt

Shavuot commemorates the Torah being given to Moses.

Sukkot is a feast which celebrates the way God protected the Jews in the desert.

The Sedar plate is a special plate containing symbolic food eaten and displayed at Passover.

Synagogue

Place of worship

Rabbi

The Torah

Ark

Moses

Kosher
food

Seder
Plate

Exciting reads

Key Vocabulary

Passover/Pesach

Shavuot

Sukkot

Protection

Communication

Festivals

Celebrations

Beliefs

Faith Name

Judaism

Followers

Jewish

Place of worship

Synagogue

Holy Book

Hebrew Bible

Language

Hebrew

Sticky Facts

- The Hindu place of worship is the Mandir (Hindu temple)
- A deity is a god or goddess.
- When Hindus worship one of the deities, it is called Puja.
- During Puja Hindus pray and give offerings such as fruit, incense and flowers.
- Puja happens daily and can happen at home or in Hindu temples.
- Some Hindus have a small shrine in their home so they can worship daily.
- Objects used in Puja include a bell, incense, a diya lamp and water containers.
- Holi is known as the festival of colour.
- Holi marks the beginning of spring; usually in March.
- People celebrate it by singing and dancing round a bonfire; last year's rubbish is burnt.
- During Holi there is a street carnival of colours where people throw dry, coloured powder

Key Vocabulary

Deity

Mandir

Puja

Offering

Shrine

Holi

Festival

Celebration

Worship

Devotion

Sticky Facts

- The Pharisee prayed about how good he was.
- The tax collector asked for God's mercy as he was a sinner.
- Pride is when you have a feeling of deep pleasure or satisfaction.
 - The parable: 'the friend at midnight', Jesus wants to encourage the disciples not to be afraid to keep asking every day for their daily bread. He wants them to know that they can be confident in seeking God to meet their daily needs.

Key Vocabulary

Humility

Pride

Praying

Justice

Sinner

satisfaction

