

Perryfields Junior School
Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND)
Information Report
SENCO Sophie Cole (01245) 250781

At Perryfields, we foster an inclusive approach to education by ensuring that all pupils with SEND have access to a broad and balanced curriculum. There is a shared expectation that all pupils, regardless of their specific needs, will receive high quality teaching through the Perryfields Pedagogy – which encompasses a mastery approach. This will enable them to fulfil their potential and leave them well prepared for the next stage of their education and beyond.

What kind of special educational provision is made at Perryfields Junior School?

Learning Difficulties and Disabilities

The delivery of the provision for children with learning difficulties usually takes place in the normal classroom setting and is the responsibility of the Class Teacher. Through ‘High Quality Teaching’, children’s needs are continuously assessed, planned, implemented and reviewed. Teacher planning includes a graduated approach for children with SEND.

In the morning, pupils are grouped into sets for English and mathematics based on their individual learning paces. This grouping system is designed to ensure that students are placed in groups that reflect their current level of proficiency, allowing for instruction that is specifically tailored to meet their needs and abilities. Learning Support Assistants (LSAs) and/or Higher-Level Teaching Assistants (HLTAs) are deployed to provide support to all students as directed by the class teacher. Additionally, LSAs may work with children who have special educational needs in either small groups or on a 1:1 basis.

Children who are unable to access learning despite significant adaptations will be placed on a personalised curriculum, delivered on a 1:1 basis by experienced Learning Support Assistants (LSAs). The school will collaborate closely with relevant professionals to ensure that the needs of each student on a personalised curriculum are effectively met. Whenever possible, pupils will be supported within the classroom setting to minimise disruption and help them develop positive relationships with their peers.

Various intervention groups run across the school for small numbers of children who need additional support both those on the SEND register and those requiring additional support to meet their potential.

Additional LSAs are deployed to specifically work with the very few children with EHCPs, under the direction of the SENCO and class teacher.

Social, Emotional, and Mental Health (SEMH) Difficulties

Children remain the responsibility of their class teacher and receive a graduated approach tailored to their individual needs. Support may include additional classroom resources, such as reward charts, timers, clear rules and routines, and extra circle time sessions. Some pupils may also benefit from personalised interventions focusing on emotional regulation, anger management, and SMART Thinking. In certain cases, an individualised behaviour management plan may be put in place.

Pupils requiring additional support are recorded on the school's wellbeing register, and their progress is monitored termly using a variety of assessment tools. These assessments help senior leaders determine the most appropriate level of SEMH support for each child.

The school offers three levels of SEMH support:

- Level 1 – Focus: Small group sessions for pupils with similar SEMH needs. Each session has specific targets, and pupils' progress is monitored against these outcomes. Interventions may include Lego Therapy.
- Level 2 – Targeted: One-to-one support delivered by LSAs trained in mental health first aid.
- Level 3 – External: One-to-one support provided by an external play therapist, who meets weekly with the pupil and collaborates with the school's SENCo.

The school also works in partnership with the Essex Child and Family Wellbeing Service to provide additional support for pupils with SEMH difficulties.

Autism and Social Communication Difficulties

Children remain the responsibility of the class teacher and will receive a graduated approach to their school experience, tailored to their individual needs. For example, they may be provided with additional resources to support their learning in the classroom, such as visual timetables, organisational prompts, 'now and next' boards, tasks broken into manageable steps, clear and precise language, multiple options for recording work, workstations, sensory tools, weighted cushions, or fiddle toys. When necessary, pupils will follow a personalised curriculum designed to address their specific needs and support progress towards the targets outlined in their One Plans or Education, Health, and Care Plans (EHCP).

The school works closely with the Educational Psychology Service and Autism Outreach to meet the needs of pupils with ASD needs.

Speech, Language, and Communication Difficulties (SLCN)

Children remain the responsibility of their class teacher and receive a graduated approach tailored to their individual needs. Support may include strategies such as pre-teaching topic-specific vocabulary, breaking tasks into pictorial formats, providing visuals with word banks, and using mind-mapping techniques.

A speech and language therapist visits the school to assess and review individual cases.

Staff supporting pupils with Speech, Language, and Communication Needs (SLCN) have received specialist training to enhance their practice. Interventions may be delivered individually or integrated into phonics provision. The school uses the Junior Speech and Language Link programme alongside the outcomes and recommendations from speech and language therapists to assess pupils and deliver targeted interventions.

Sensory, Physical, Medical and Neurological Difficulties

Children remain the responsibility of their class teacher and receive a graduated approach tailored to their individual needs. Support may include increased opportunities to use ICT to record work or the provision of a scribe for some sessions. Time is allocated for children who have been assessed or supported by specialist services, such as Occupational Therapy or Physiotherapy, to ensure their recommendations are implemented. The school also provides sensory circuits to support pupils with sensory needs.

The school is fully accessible and includes a disabled toilet. Additional specialist equipment is purchased or hired as required to meet the needs of individual pupils.

For children with medical needs, the school develops Health Care Plans with parents and with involvement from health services. These plans cover conditions such as allergies, asthma, epilepsy, and diabetes. On some occasions, an LSA may be employed to support the child in managing their condition.

Occasionally, children may attend external therapy clinics to access specialised support. Permission is granted when this is deemed beneficial for the child's development within the school setting.

The provisions outlined above reflect current support; however, as the needs of children evolve, additional support may be introduced that is not detailed in this document.

How are SEND professionals from outside of the school (External Agencies) involved?	Some children with particular difficulties are supported by the involvement of external agencies e.g. Educational Psychologists, Inclusion partners, Emotional Well-being and Mental Health Services, Paediatricians, GPs, Occupational Therapists, Physiotherapists, Speech and Language Therapists, Counsellors, Home/School Liaison, School Nurses, Hospitals, Optometrists and other specific professionals. All may provide specialist assessments or advice on different strategies or materials. In discussion with the class teacher and family, the SENCo makes a referral to appropriate outside agencies. The SENCo liaises regularly with outside agencies as appropriate.
Are there any other Support Services that are readily available to Perryfields Junior School?	Yes. Perryfields Junior School offer the following to children whom may need it: 1. Counselling This service is commissioned through Butterfly Counselling and delivered on-site to minimise disruption to the child's or young person's education. Access to the provision is by referral from the school. The Butterfly Counselling Service supports pupils in attending to their thoughts and feelings about past experiences and current relationships, helping ensure these do not interfere with their learning. The service assists children in developing alternative coping strategies, enabling them to share distress or difficult feelings rather than act them out. Where appropriate, counsellors engage with parents/carers and school staff, providing feedback and suggestions for supporting the child both at home and in class. Counselling may be time-limited (typically one term) or ongoing (usually for a full academic year). The counsellor advises the school on the likely duration of support for each child and ensures expectations are clear regarding outcomes and the difference between short-term and longer-term counselling. Before counselling can commence, parental consent is required. This is usually obtained by the school, though it can alternatively be obtained by the counsellor if parents/carers attend the assessment session. 2. Nurture Mentor Project Our school has two Nurture Mentors who work one-to-one with selected children for one session each week. The support provided is tailored to the individual needs of the child, with the primary aim of improving emotional and mental wellbeing. The impact of the intervention is closely monitored to ensure it is effective. 3. GROW - Primary

	GROW project provides more specialised support than is normally available in a mainstream primary setting, through the delivery of high quality, enhanced early intervention specialist support for primary aged children with behaviour, emotional and/or social difficulties. This involves a secure carefully planned and structured learning experience to promote more positive behaviours for such children. Newlands Spring school acts as the 'host' LDG school and the project is supported by Educational Psychologist (EP) professionals. The unit is able to take up to 5 children at any one time for a fixed period of support. A normal period of support within the 'unit' would be 6-8 weeks per child following which, the child returns to their own school. 4. SENCO Cluster A local schools' SENCo Cluster meets on a regular basis to offer support, guidance and advise in all aspects of the role and needs of the local schools.
How does Perryfields Junior School identify, assess, provide provision and assess the effectiveness of support for children with SEND?	Current Identification And Assessment For Children Who Potentially Have SEND Children who need provision additional to or different from that which is ordinarily available may be identified as having a Special Educational Need (SEN). SEN can be broadly grouped into four areas of need: Cognition and Learning – support for children with learning difficulties, including specific literacy difficulties (SpLD) Communication and Language – support for children with speech, language, and communication needs (SLCN). Social, Emotional, and Mental Health (SEMH) – support for children experiencing emotional or behavioural difficulties that impact their learning. Sensory and/or Physical Needs – support for children with physical disabilities or sensory impairments, including visual or hearing difficulties, or children requiring additional occupational or physiotherapy support. We recognise that not all children progress at the same rate, and not all pupils who fall behind their peers have SEN. The identification of SEN is embedded within the school's overall approach to monitoring the progress and development of all pupils. If pupils are making insufficient progress in any area of their development, additional support is provided. The pupil's response to this support may help to identify their specific needs.

Adequate progress is defined as progress that:

- Is similar to that of peers starting from the same baseline;
- Matches or exceeds the child's previous rate of progress;
- Closes the attainment gap between the child and their peers;
- Prevents the attainment gap from widening.

Where pupils continue to make inadequate progress despite high-quality teaching targeted at their areas of weakness, the class teacher, in collaboration with the SENCO, will assess whether the child has a significant learning difficulty. If so, the pupil will be placed on the school SEND register at 'SEN Support'.

Identification and assessment methods include:

- High-quality formative assessment, including observation, examination of work, and ongoing data monitoring;
- Summative assessments, such as reading, writing, and mathematics tests;
- Specialist assessments from external agencies and professionals;
- Analysis by school leaders and teaching staff, including the SENCO, to identify patterns in SEN identification within the school and in comparison with national data, using these insights to reflect on and enhance the quality of teaching.

Provision for Children at 'SEN Support'

1. High-Quality Teaching

High-quality teaching seeks to engage and support the learning of all children. Reasonable adjustments for individual pupils are the first step in responding to those who have SEND.

2. Graduated Approach

Where further support is required, a graduated approach is implemented. This involves more detailed strategies, more frequent review, and access to specialist expertise in successive cycles to ensure interventions are matched to the child's specific SEN. The process follows four key stages:

Assess – using the identification and assessment methods outlined previously, including formative and summative assessments and specialist evaluations where appropriate.

Plan – interventions and support are planned, including the expected impact on progress, development, or behaviour, along with a clear review date. Support is based on reliable evidence of effectiveness and delivered by staff with appropriate skills and knowledge. A personalised provision plan will be put in place.

Do – The class teacher remains responsible for the pupil's day-to-day learning. Where interventions involve group or one-to-one teaching outside the main class, the teacher continues to coordinate with teaching assistants or specialist staff to plan and monitor the impact of interventions. The SENCO supports the teacher by assessing the child's strengths and weaknesses, problem-solving, and advising on the effective implementation of support.

Review – The effectiveness of the support and its impact on the child's progress is reviewed in line with the agreed date. The class teacher, in collaboration with the SENCO, revises support based on the pupil's progress and development, updating outcomes and any necessary changes to interventions. Formal reviews with parents are conducted termly, during which a new Provision Plan for the child is drawn up.

3. Involving Specialists

We may involve specialists at any point to advise regarding early identification of SEN and effective support. When available we involve a specialist if a child continues to make little or no progress over a sustained period or where they continue to work at levels substantially below those expected of children of a similar age despite support. Parents are always part of this discussion.

Current Identification of Children who Need a Statutory Assessment

Perryfields Junior School will discuss requesting that the Local Authority (LA) initiate statutory assessment of the child's needs if:

- Adequate progress has not been made despite provision of an individual programme and concentrated SEN Support, backed up by evidence.
- A child is identified as demonstrating a significant cause for concern.

And;

- The child's needs cannot be met under the current resources available to the school.

The Code of Practice (2014) is used to ensure rigorous following of statutory procedures.

	Requesting an Education, Health and Care needs assessment A request for an Education, Health and Care (EHC) needs assessment should be made when, despite the school taking appropriate and purposeful action to identify, assess, and address a pupil's SEND needs, the pupil has not made the expected progress. This decision is made following thorough discussion with the child's parents or carers, and specialist advice may be sought before the application is submitted. Once the request is made, the school and parents complete the required statutory documentation and await the outcome of the local authority's decision. Provision for Children with EHCPs Any additional resources awarded through an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP) will be allocated in consultation with class teachers, parents or carers, external agencies, and representatives from the Local Authority. Provision for pupils with an EHCP will continue to follow the Graduated Response model. In addition to termly review meetings, an Annual Review will be held, to which all parties involved with the child—including the child themselves—will be invited to contribute and attend.
