THE SECRET GARDEN
FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT

Challenge

"You discover a rusty key hidden beneath a rose bush. The key glows faintly in your hand. One evening, you find an old locked gate tangled in ivy. As the key turns, the gate creaks open... but it doesn't lead where you expected. Where does it lead, and what awaits you on the other side?"

Design a key
Write a tag to explain what is inside the door or gate it opens

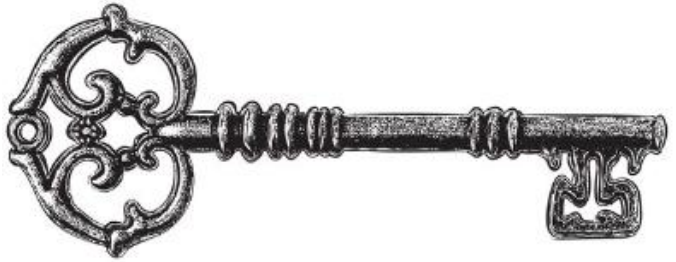

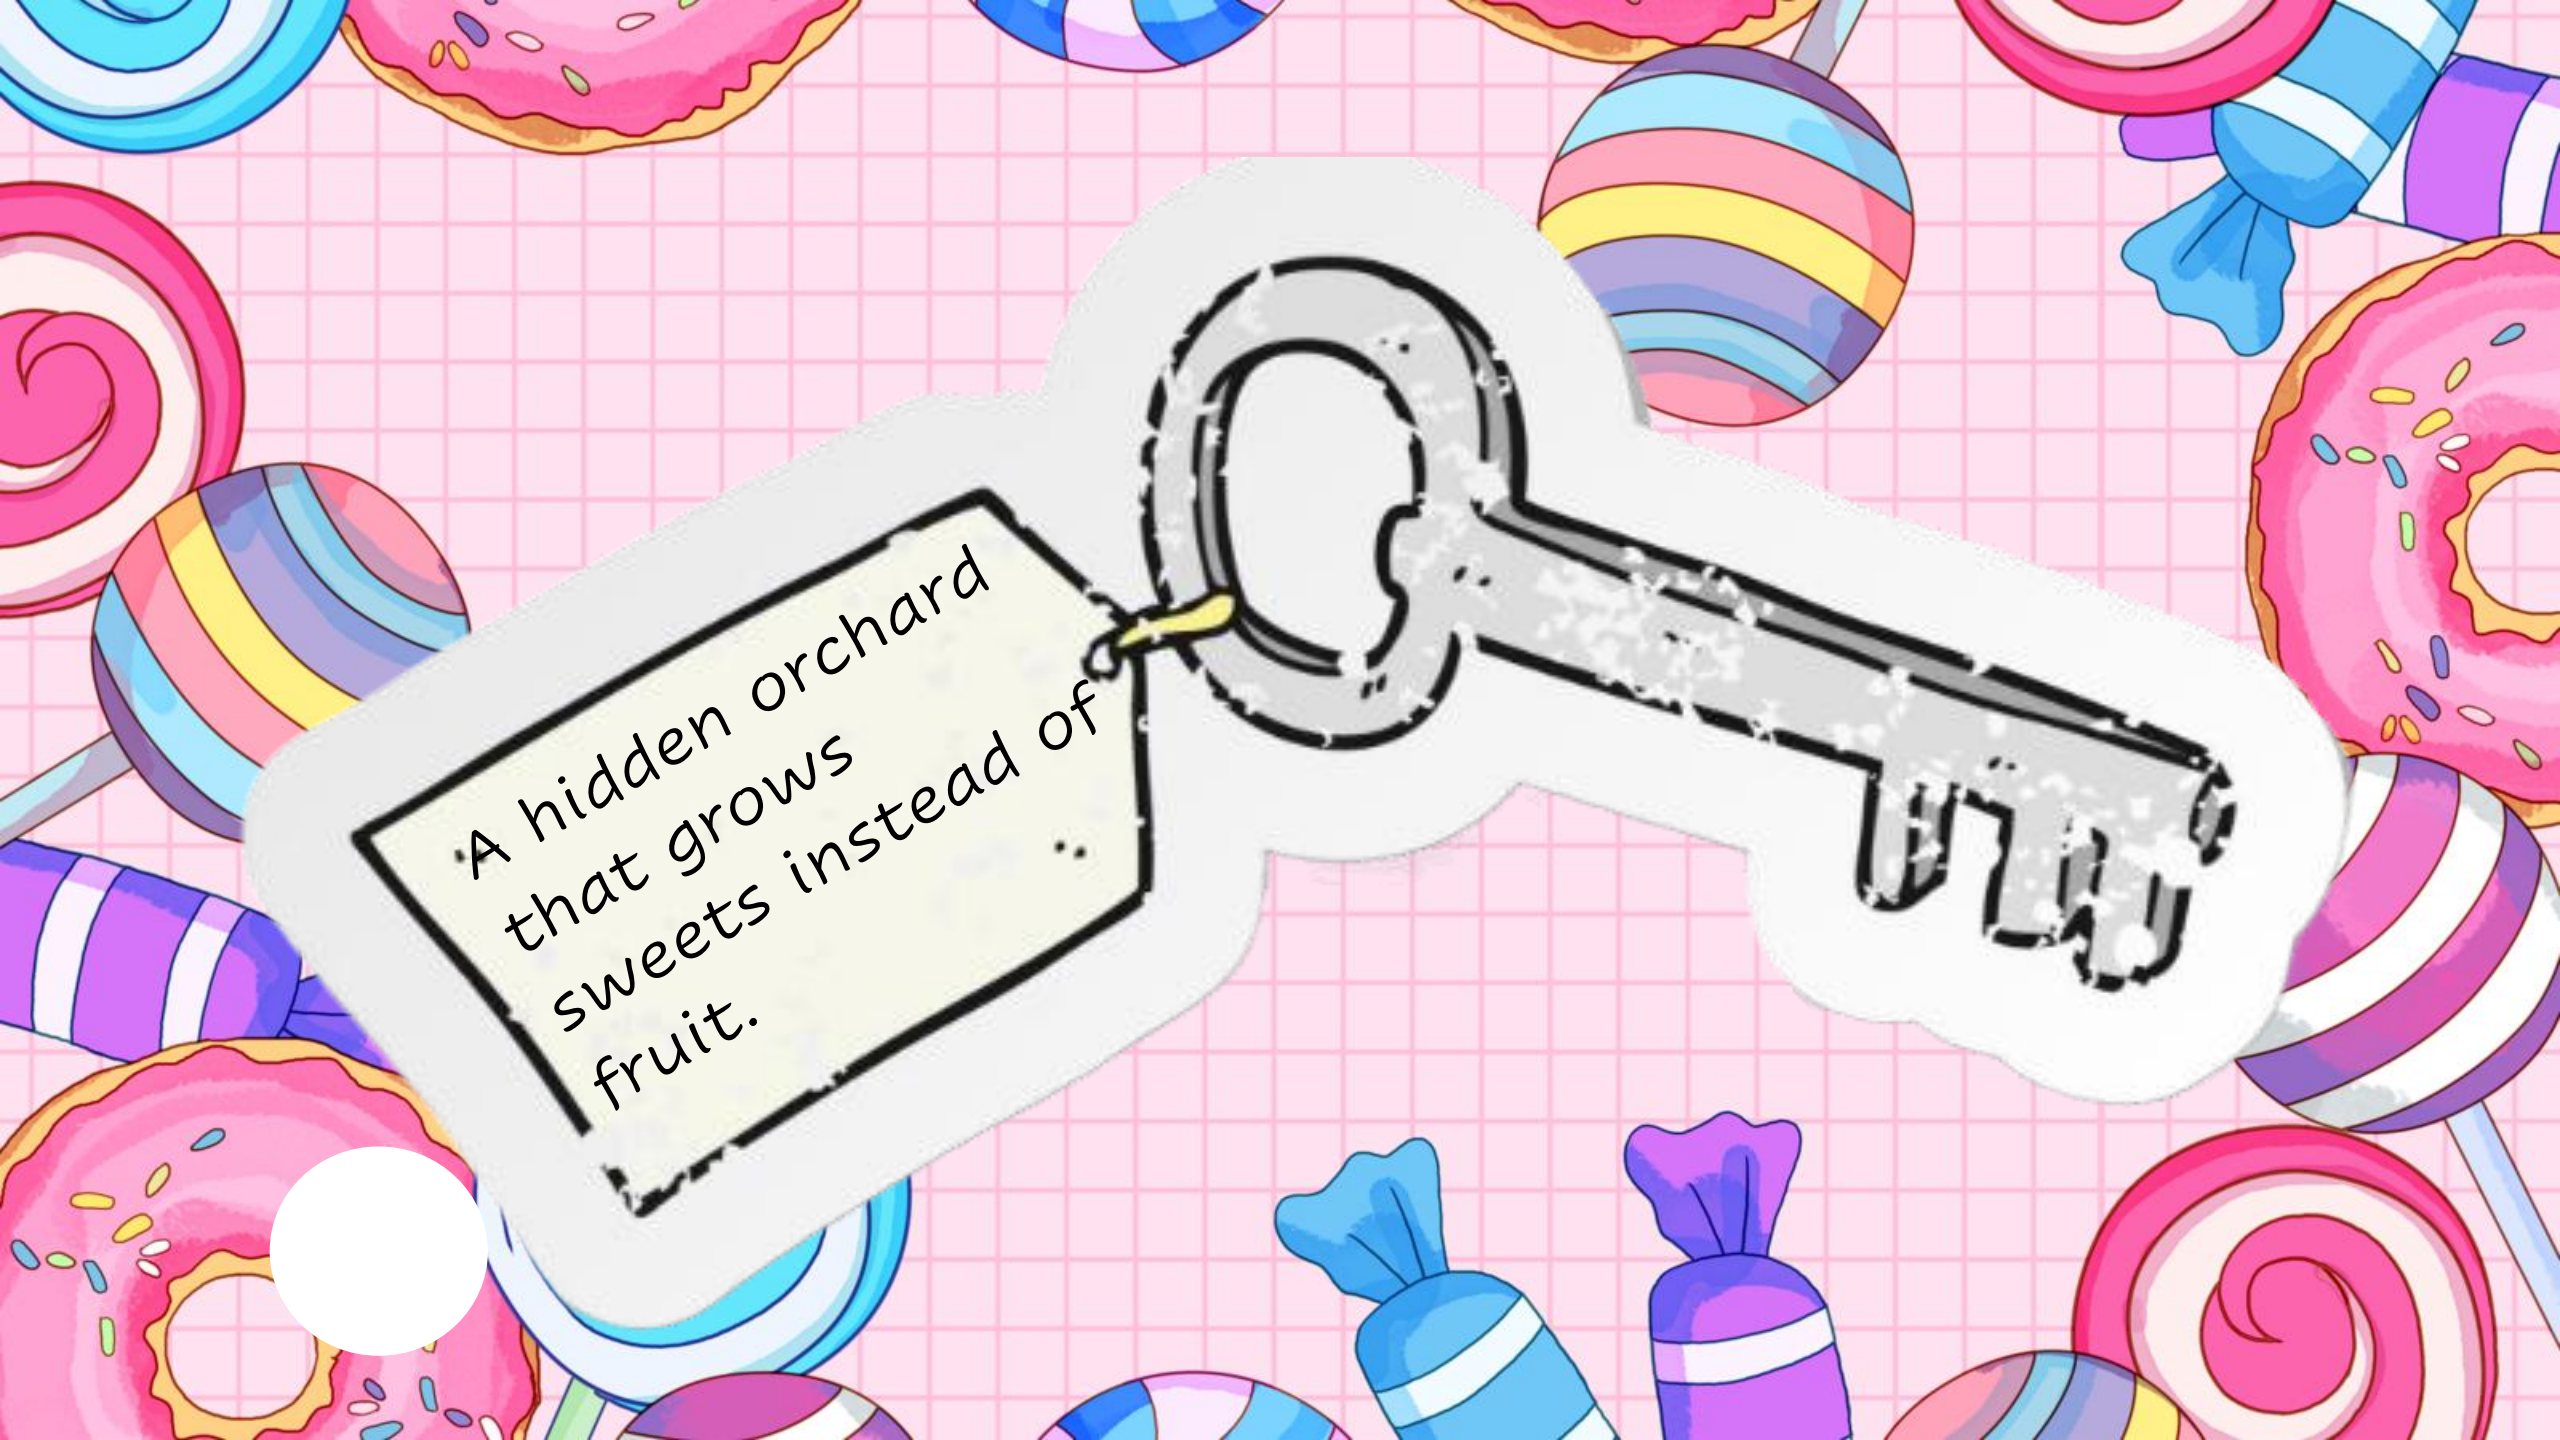

A hidden orchard that grows sweets instead of fruit.

A cloud
garden

Other ideas for where the key could lead..

A forest where every tree tells a different story.

A garden where butterflies carry messages.

A secret beach where the shells whisper secrets.

A library where books grow on trees.

A garden of doors, each leading somewhere different.

A moonlit garden that only appears at midnight.

A garden where lost things appear.

The gate leads into the pages of a storybook.

Beyond the gate is a tiny world where you become the size of insects.
